

The books listed below are available for review in Comitatus 51 (Fall 2020), the graduate student journal published by the UCLA Center for Medieval and Renaissance Studies. All book reviews are due 17 August 2020 and should be between 800 and 1500 words in length. If you would like to review one or more of these titles, contact Allison McCann (allisonmccann@humnet.ucla.edu). Please include your university affiliation and a brief explanation of your research interests and the qualifications that make you an ideal reviewer for a given book.

*As a part of the ongoing global response to COVID-19, CMRS staff have been working from home since March 13. Unless and until we are permitted to return to our offices, review copies cannot be shipped or picked up as usual. In light of this, we would like to encourage reviewers to select titles that are available digitally. We have already secured digital access to many of the titles currently sitting in hard copy on CMRS shelves. If a title is marked with two asterisks (**), it is available for digital review and the CMRS possesses a hard copy, meaning that digital access is immediately available and the hard copy could be shipped out or picked up once stay-at-home orders are lifted. Any title marked with a single asterisk (*) is available for review in a digital format, but the CMRS does not currently possess a hard copy. If digital access is not indicated next to a title, or if you would like to review a title not listed below, please contact Allison in any case. We may be able to arrange a digital copy or direct shipment with the publisher.*

Please note that, due to high shipping costs, the CMRS can only ship books to reviewers located within the United States.
